

I am concerned about further deregulation of media ownership rules. More local ownership promotes a greater diversity of opinion and better local coverage of news and issues. The mega communications giants already have too much control over local programming and news.